PRIVACY POLICY
Last Updated June 30, 2025

The following is our Privacy Policy in relationship to the provision of services by us and for your access to and use of our Website www.googolplextax.com (“our Website”).

We collect nonpublic personal information about you that is provided to us by you or obtained by us with your authorization. Examples of the sources of the nonpublic personal information may be from:

- Applications, tax organizers, worksheets, and other documents that you provide;
- Information about your transactions with us, our affiliates, or others;
- Email or other communications you may have with us through our Website; and
- Information that we receive from a consumer reporting agency.

We do not disclose any nonpublic personal information about our clients, prospective clients, or former clients to anyone, except as required or permitted by law.

We restrict access to nonpublic personal information about you to those members of our firm who need to know that information to provide services to you. We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with federal regulations to guard your nonpublic personal information.

We retain records relating to professional services that we provide so that we are better able to assist you with your professional needs and, in some cases, to comply with professional guidelines. In order to guard your nonpublic personal information, we maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with our professional standards.

We do not collect any nonpublic personal information about our Website visitors unless it is voluntarily submitted, in which case we will act in a responsible manner to protect your personal information.

If you have any questions about our Privacy Policy, please do not hesitate to contact us.
